WINTER FLEET OF COAL BOATS IS NOW READY

Fishing Fleet is Awaiting
Warmer Weather Before
Attack on Finny Tribe.

Ashtabula, O., April 15, (UP) — Their hulls painted a florid copper red with the inner decks "black oiled," to prevent rust, with deckhouses snowy white, the winter fleet of coal and ore boats is ready for the shipping season.

The 400 ships enrolled under the Lake Carriers' association should be carrying cargoes and afloat within six weeks, but this will be an exceptionally late season, according to Robert A. Barr, Cleveland, secretary of the carriers.

A few package freighters have voyaged forth to date, but the icy condition of lakes and harbors have made general shipping conditions impracticable.

Lake Carriers' halls open all the year around are now flooded with wheelmen, watchmen, deckhands, fire men, oilers, as well as stewards, second cooks and porters, looking for boats to ship on for the season. The fishing fleet is also awaiting warmer weather before going netting for the finny tribe.

POTATO EATERS WILL NOT SEE LOWER PRICES

Only Four-Fifths of Normal
Requirements of Tubers
Was Raised Last Year.

Columbus, O., April 15, (UP) — Potato eaters who are being told stories of great quantities of potatoes in storage to hold up prices can expect little decrease in the market price they will have to pay, C. W. Waid, fruit and vegetable specialist of the Ohio Farm bureau federation thinks. Such supplies don't exist, in his opinion.

Something over 400,000,000 bushels of potatoes are consumed in this country every year, Waid reported. According to government estimates only 323,000,000 bushels were produced in 1925, or something less than four-fifths of normal requirements, he declared.

WASHINGTON SPECIALS

Washington, April 13.—(UP.)—The Cuban economic depression apparently due to a surplus sugar production received attention of several high administration leaders today. Senator Smoot, Utah, Republican, in the senate denounced the refineries and charged they were responsible for the Cuban depression in "their plans to control the world sugar industry." Secretary of Commerce Hoover advocated extension of government aid to Cuba. Smoot opposed the Cuban president's reported plan to ask for a reduction on the U. S. tariff on sugar, in an attempt to relieve the situation.

The Cummings railroad consolidation bill providing for voluntary unification of the railroads of this country into a few main systems within the next five years today was favorably reported to the senate by the interstate commerce committee.

A bill to place government of radio broadcasting under a national radio commission of three members to be appointed by the president, was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, and referred to the inter-state commerce committee. Commissioners would receive a salary of $10,000 a year each to classify radio stations and operators, prescribe the nature of service of all stations and assign wave lengths.

The Cramton bill placing prohibition agents under civil service rules was favorably reported to the Senate today by the Senate civil service committee.

AMUSEMENTS

The dynamic presence of Pola Negri is once again in our local midst, this time in a picture at the Metropolitan theater entitled "A Woman of the World." From a strictly story standpoint, this new vehicle is easily the best Pola has had to date, for aside from the modernness of its plot and American locale, it presents her in an appealing, sympathetic role that offers full scope for her emotional brand of acting, and at the same time permits her to essay a little light comedy now and then.

The action begins in Europe and we learn that Pola is the Countess Natartoini, who has tattooed her arm as a symbol of her love for her fiancé. When he proves unfaithful, she decides to go to America and visit some distant relatives in Maple Valley, Iowa. To say that she creates a sensation when she suddenly descends upon this typically Main street community is putting it mildly.

Imagine a peacock in a chicken coop and you'll understand why Pola with her magnificent Paris gowns exotic beauty and polished manners rouses the townspeople to a frenzy of excitement. Adventures pile up with startling rapidity — some intensely dramatic, others delightfully humorous — and reach a boiling point when Pola publicly horsewhips the local district attorney, with whom she is in love, for making an untrue accusation against her. The subsequent developments concern the outcome of this strange romance.

Altho Pola is the outstanding performance, the supporting players acquit themselves with considerable distinction. Charles Emmett Mack, Holmes Herbert, Chester Conklin and Blanche Mehaffey are all admirable, cast and are uniformly good in their respective roles.

ACCESS INTO GRACE THRU FAITH IN GOD

Justification Was Theme of Sermon by Rev. Glass— Hear Message Tonight.

"Therefore being justified by faith we have peace with God thru our Lord Jesus Christ; by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God. Romans 5:1-2.

This is the sweet, old, precious doctrine of justification by faith. It is a wonderful experience; a real definite experience. To stand justified before God means to stand before Him uncondemned.

"Being justified by faith." It is by faith. Faith in what? Not in myself, not in my church, but faith in Jesus Christ. It is in Him, and thru Him alone, that we have hope of eternal life.

Notice the results to which he refers. "Being justified by faith, we have peace with God." Not many have peace, but we have peace. O, to be at peace with Him! Don't you know, being at peace with Him we are at peace with our fellowmen, and mark this, you are not at peace with God if you are not at peace with your fellowmen. But when we have peace with God and peace with our fellowmen that brings us to the place where we have peace with ourselves.

Then we have "access to this grace wherein we stand." That's the great need of the age in which we are living. That's the great need of the church; that's the great need here in Circleville. You can call it what you will, sanctification, the second blessing, heart purity, or any scriptural name, but the thing we need in lives today is the "grace wherein we stand." Brother, sister, have you found it? Having come into the state of peace you are where you have access by faith into this grace wherein you can stand.

Then he says, "Now we can rejoice in hope of the glory of God." What's your condition tonight? Are you justified before God? Have you been justified and yet failed to plunge into the deeper things, into that grace wherein we can stand. Oh, if you have not done so, won't you do it tonight?

Thursday evening we expect to hear a wonderful message on "The Greatest Mistake Ever Made, or Why He Was a Fool." At Calvary Evangelical church at 7:15.

Good Manners

Politeness does not mean formality, small talk or affectation. Politeness means the recognition of the temperament and feelings of another human being, the determination to do nothing and to say nothing that can injure that person's self-respect or to give them one moment of unnecessary suffering.

AUXILIARY

Figures Expenses and Counts Receipts.

The sum total of the amount realized at the House Warming party of the American Legion which was held on last Friday evening has not been definitely stated as yet as all the returns have not been made. Some of the committees have not yet reported. It is thought that about three hundred dollars will be realized after all expenses are paid.

At the regular meeting of the Auxiliary to the American Legion Monday evening, their committees completed their reports but there are still some from the Legion to be heard from. Many very generous donations of money were received from persons who were unable to attend, which the auxiliary members wish the donors to know were very much appreciated and they take this opportunity of thanking both them and all those who contributed to the success of the party by their attendance.

It was decided at this meeting that this affair would be repeated at a later date as it was such a pleasant affair that the committee has been requested to hold another soon. It will not be repeated, however, for at least six months.

Arrangements for the sale of poppies which will occupy the minds of the members of the auxiliary for the next few weeks, were made, it being decided that the poppies would be made by the members themselves this year instead of buying them as they have done in previous years.

The necessary material has been ordered from headquarters, and as soon as it arrives there will be a meeting arranged so that all members may have an opportunity to help in this worthy cause.

The proceeds from this sale is to be used only in relief work. A separate account is kept by all Auxiliaries for this money and under no circumstances can any of this money be expended for any other purpose.

Watch for announcement regarding the sale of these poppies which will be made in this paper at a later date.

ENRICHING THE "THREE R'S"

Time was when the education of youth centered around the "three R's." Not only did teaching revolve around this trio but it confined itself solely to it. That day is past. We have discovered there are some things as vitally necessary to education—the development of character and physique, a stimulation for truth, the promotion of clear thinking and clean living.

Today Reading, Writing and Arithmetic are basic as ever. But it is a more rounding training that develops reasoning and fosters individuality. We have outgrown primitive educational methods.

Likewise our attitude toward living has changed. We build better homes; we have reduced our working hours and increased our social activities. Our playgrounds have supplanted the alleys for our boys and our parks afford the picnic grounds for our citizens. School buildings have become the Community Center for play and social recreation and the headquarters for adult education and training.

We have come from an existing to an evolving life. We are striving to make education a means to wisdom. Today the school house is the measuring rod of progress. Often it is the architectural pride of the community. It is equipped beyond the dreams of a generation ago. Class rooms and subject matter no longer repel pupils. Compulsory attendance laws do not account for the yearly pyramiding of school attendance. The teacher personality, combined with fresh air, sunshine and good cheer are impelling. Physical development is encouraged, the practical in education stressed and the cultural side of life emphasized. Music, art and drama have become an important part of the curriculum. Foundations are laid for better and more abundant living and a finer spirit of human relations.

These influences reach beyond the pupil into the home. More and more we are bringing the school into relationship with the family. The Parent-Teacher Associations have proved the connecting link. They are an evidence of the growth of a common interest in educational work.

Our schools are the mirrors of our national progress. It is one of the blessings of our democracy that we keep these schools pliant, responsive to the country's growth. We are of those who feel that the "three R's" have been taken beyond them. We have added to these the "three C's"—Character, Culture and Citizenship.

The "Enriching of the Three R's" is a story not only of educational progress but likewise community betterment.

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for April 18

THE BEGINNING OF SIN

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 3:1-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.—I Cor. 15:22.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Adam and Eve Disobey God.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Result of Disobedience.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Playing With Temptation.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Temptation and the Fall.

A look out upon the world proves that man is not what he should be. It is not reasonable to suppose that man is now what he was when he came from the hands of the Creator, much less an improvement. The only way of accounting for this is by the historic fall of man as given in the Bible. The introduction of sin is the only answer.

1. Man's Probation (vv. 1-5).

1. The place.

It was the beautiful garden of Eden. Man's environment was suited to his nature. The testing of the second Adam was quite in contrast. Instead of in the garden of Eden with a companion suited unto him, it was in the wilderness with the wild beasts.

2. The necessity.

Adam was created with the possibility of character, but not with character. This he could get only through testing. Alternative choice makes character possible. Free will is what made Adam a real man. Character is the resultant of choice.

3. The means.

It was most simple—just one prohibition. The tree of the knowledge of good and evil was forbidden.

4. The method.

Satan, a personal malicious being, appeared in the guise of a serpent. He did not appeal directly to the man. He chose to appeal to the woman through the serpent and through the woman to the man.

a. He found the woman while alone.

b. He insinuated doubt into Eve's mind as to God's Word and love.

Satan's method is the same today. He tries to get people to doubt God's Word and then to doubt His love.

c. He appealed to innocent appetite.

He argued that there would be no harm in eating, but a great advantage.

d. Eve gazed upon that which God had forbidden and lusted after that which God had prohibited.

II. Man's Fall (vv. 6-8).

The steps in the fall seem to have been rapid. From doubting God's love Eve went to doubting His word. From gazing upon and lusting after that which God had prohibited there was but a short step to Indulgence.

III. The Consequence of the Fall (vv. 9-24).

God's holy nature is such that when men sin, He at once manifests Himself on the scene.

1. A disturbed relationship with God (v. 8).

The introduction of sin marred man's familiar intercourse with the Almighty. Adam and Eve not only hid from God's presence, but when summoned by Him they began to make excuse, and Adam even laid the blame on God.

2. The degradation of the serpent henceforth becoming the type of sin and Satan (v. 14; cf. Num. 21:9. John 3:14 and Rev. 12:9).

Satan's doom was pronounced without trial. In the case of the man it was not so, showing that this was not Satan's first offense.

3. The undying enmity between the seed of woman and the seed of the serpent (v. 15).

This bitter enmity has continued from that day to this.

4. The ultimate victory of the woman's seed (v. 15).

Satan harassed the woman's seed, but on the cross the final stroke was made which crushed his head (John 12:31, Heb. 2:14, 1 John 3:8). This is the first gleam of the glorious gospel of Christ.

5. The judgment upon the woman (v. 16).

This relates primarily to her as a wife and mother.

6. Man's new relationship to the earth (vv. 17-19).

The earth was cursed on his account. Man must make an increased effort to exist. With his sinful nature, man would be in a bad state without the necessity of toil.

7. Death (v. 19).

This includes spiritual and physical death. Sin brought all.

8. Expulsion from the garden (v. 24).

Then man's nature was changed, out from the beautiful garden he went.

Being Content

And we shall be made truly wise if we be made content; content, too, not only with what we can understand, but content with what we do not understand—the habit of mind which theologians call, and rightly, faith in God.—Charles Kingsley.

Personal Immortality

Without a belief in personal immortality religion is like an arch resting on one pillar or like a bridge ending in an abyss.

Not Hard to Believe

A wandering Jewish musician met three wolves in a forest in Latvia. In his fright he began playing his hand-organ. At the first selection the wolves, he says, began to howl; at the third they ran away. Being familiar with hand-organs we here testify to our belief in the literal truth of the musician's story.

OLD FIDDLERS ENTERTAIN AT THE MEETING

Of Chamber of Commerce—
Speech of Indian Chief in Book Printed in 1817.

The chamber of commerce at its regular meeting Tuesday evening, following the banquet, was given a most delightful surprise. The South End orchestra, composed of Harry Wilson, William Knode and Frank Rodgers, old-time fiddlers, came in at the invitation of the entertainment committee and rendered a number of selections. The old dance music they played was far superior to the rag time, jazz airs that seem to be the vogue today. When they played "Suwanee river" and "Old Black Joe," the members joined in and sang the songs that were popular "befoh de wah," and the eighteen karat amendment.

"Tug" Wilson, "Dink" Knode and "Folla" Rodgers are real fiddlers, and if ever Henry Ford gets a chance to hear them, he will realize that all three can draw a mean bow and their future will be assured.

President Shaner in looking over his school books, found a copy of the Columbian orator, that he used to study back in 1817. He prevailed on John D. Hummel to read a speech made by an Indian chief, of the Stockbridge tribe, to the Massachusetts congress, in the year 1775, and at the request of a number of members, who desired a copy of same, we reproduce it.

"Brothers:— You remember when you first came over the great waters I was great and you were little, very small. I then took you in for a friend and kept you under my arms, so that no one might injure you. Since that time we have even been true friends; there has never been any quarrel between us. But now our conditions are changed. You are become great and tall. You reach to the clouds. You are seen all around the world. I am become small; very little. I am not so high as your knee. Now you take care of me; and I look to you for protection.

"Brothers! I am sorry to hear of this great quarrel between you and Old England. It appears that blood must soon be shed to end this quarrel. We never till this day understood the foundation of this quarrel between you and the country you came from. Brothers, whenever I see your blood running, you will soon find me about to revenge my brother's blood. Altho I am low and very small, I will grip hold of your enemy's heel, that he cannot run so fast, and so fight, as if he had nothing at his heels.

"Brothers, you know I am not so wise as you are, therefore I ask your advice in what I am going to say.

"I have been thinking before you come to action, to take a run to the westward and feel the mind of my Indian brethren. The six nations, and know how they stand; whether they are on your side, or for your enemies.

"If I find they are against you, I will try to turn their minds. I think they will listen to me; for they have always looked this way for advice, concerning all important news that comes from the rising sun, if they harken to me, you will not be afraid of any danger behind you. However their minds are affected, you shall know by me.

"Now I think I can do you more service in this way than by marching off immediately to Boston and staying there. It may be a great while before blood runs. Now, as I said, you are wiser than I, I leave this for your consideration, whether I come down immediately, or wait till I hear some blood is spilled.

"Brothers! I would not have you think by this, that we are falling back from our engagements. We are ready to do anything for your relief and shall be guided by your counsel.

"Brothers! one thing I ask of you, if you send for me to fight, that you will let me fight in my own Indian way. I am not used to fight English fashion; therefore you must not expect I can train like your men. Only point out to me where your enemies keep, and that is all I want to know."

There are many well-authenticated instances of extraordinary height. Like John Frederick of Brunswick was 8 feet 6 inches; one of the Prussian guards was also 8 feet 6 inches. O'Brien, the Irish giant, whose skeleton is in the college of surgeons, London, was 8 feet 4 inches.

Sense of Smell Changes

It is a fact little realized that the sense of smell can be educated to detect odors that the untrained nose would never pick up or suspect. The wine merchants and distillers of perfumes as well as the tobacco dealers very frequently have highly developed senses of smell.

WINTER FLEET OF COAL BOATS IS NOW READY

Fishing Fleet is Awaiting
Warmer Weather Before
Attack on Finny Tribe.

Ashtabula, O., April 15, (UP) —
Their hulls painted a florid copper red with the inner decks "black oiled," to prevent rust, with deckhouses snowy white, the winter fleet of coal and ore boats is ready for the shipping season.

The 400 ships enrolled under the Lake Carriers' association should be carrying cargoes and afloat within six weeks, but this will be an exceptionally late season, according to Robert A.
Barr, Cleveland, secretary of the carriers.

A few package freighters have voyaged forth to date, but the icy condition of lakes and harbors have made general shipping conditions impracticable.

Lake Carriers' halls open all the year around are now flooded with wheelmen, watchmen, deckhands, fire men, oilers, as well as stewards, second cooks and porters, looking for boats to ship on for the season. The fishing fleet is also awaiting warmer weather before going netting for the finny tribe.

POTATO EATERS WILL NOT SEE LOWER PRICES

Only Four-Fifths of Normal
Requirements of Tubers
Was Raised Last Year.

Columbus, O., April 15, (UP) —Potato eaters who are being told stories of great quantities of potatoes in storage to hold up prices can expect little decrease in the market price they will have to pay, C. W. Waid, fruit and vegetable specialist of the Ohio Farm bureau federation thinks. Such supplies don't exist, in his opinion.

Something over 400,000,000 bushels of potatoes are consumed in this country every year, Waid reported.
According to government estimates only 323,000,000 bushels were produced in 1925, or something less than four-fifths of normal requirements, he declared.

WASHINGTON SPECIALS
Washington, April 13.—(UP.)—The Cuban economic depression apparently due to a surplus sugar production received attention of several high administration leaders today. Senator Smoot, Utah, Republican, in the senate denounced the refineries and charged they were responsible for the Cuban depression in "their plans to control the world sugar industry." Secretary of Commerce Hoover advocated extension of government aid to Cuba. Smoot opposed the Cuban president's reported plan to ask for a reduction on the U. S. tariff on sugar, in an attempt to relieve the situation.

The Cummings railroad consolidation bill providing for voluntary unification of the railroads of this country into a few main systems within the next five years today was favorably reported to the senate by the interstate commerce committee.

A bill to place government of radio broadcasting under a national radio commission of three members to be appointed by the president, was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, and referred to the inter-state commerce committee. Commissioners would receive a salary of $10,000 a year each to classify radio stations and operators, prescribe the nature of service of all stations and assign wave lengths.

The Cramton bill placing prohibition agents under civil service rules was favorably reported to the Senate today by the Senate civil service committee.

AMUSEMENTS

The dynamic presence of Pola Negri is once again in our local midst, this time in a picture at the Metropolitan theater entitled "A Woman of the World." From a strictly story standpoint, this new vehicle is easily the best Pola has had to date, for aside from the modernness of its plot and American locale, it presents her in an appealing, sympathetic role that offers full scope for her emotional brand of acting, and at the same time permits her to essay a little light comedy now and then.

The action begins in Europe and we learn that Pola is the Countess Natarini, who has tattooed her arm as a symbol of her love for her fiancé. When he proves unfaithful, she decides to go to America and visit some distant relatives in Maple Valley, Iowa. To say that she creates a sensation when she suddenly descends upon this typically Main street community is putting it mildly.

Imagine a peacock in a chicken coop and you'll understand why Pola with her magnificent Paris gowns exotic beauty and polished manners rouses the townspeople to a frenzy of excitement. Adventures pile up with startling rapidity — some intensely dramatic, others delightfully humorous — and reach a boiling point when Pola publicly horsewhips the local district attorney, with whom she is in love, for making an untrue accusation against her. The subsequent developments concern the outcome of this strange romance.

Altho Pola's is the outstanding performance, the supporting players acquit themselves with considerable distinction. Charles Emmett Mack, Holmes Herbert, Chester Conklin and Blanche Mehaffey are all admirably cast and are uniformly good in their respective roles.

ACCESS INTO GRACE THRU FAITH IN GOD

Justification Was Theme of Sermon by Rev. Glass—
Hear Message Tonight.

"Therefore being justified by faith we have peace with God thru our Lord Jesus Christ; by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God. Romans 5:1-2.

This is the sweet, old, precious doctrine of justification by faith. It is a wonderful experience; a real definite experience. To stand justified before God means to stand before Him uncondemned.

"Being justified by faith." It is by faith. Faith in what? Not in myself, not in my church, but faith in Jesus Christ. It is in Him, and thru Him alone, that we have hope of eternal life.

Notice the results to which he refers. "Being justified by faith, we have peace with God." Not many have peace, but we have peace. O, to be at peace with Him! Don't you know, being at peace with Him we are at peace with our fellowmen, and mark this, you are not at peace with God if you are not at peace with your fellowmen. But when we have peace with God and peace with our fellowmen that brings us to the place where we have peace with ourselves.

Then we have "access to this grace wherein we stand." That's the great need of the age in which we are living. That's the great need of the church; that's the great need here in Circleville. You can call it what you will, sanctification, the second blessing, heart purity, or any scriptural name, but the thing we need in lives today is the "grace wherein we stand." Brother, sister, have you found it? Having come into the state of peace you are where you have access by faith into this grace wherein you can stand.

Then he says, "Now we can rejoice in hope of the glory of God." What's your condition tonight? Are you justified before God? Have you been justified and yet failed to plunge into the deeper things, into that grace wherein we can stand. Oh, if you have not done so, won't you do it tonight?

Thursday evening we expect to hear a wonderful message on "The Greatest Mistake Ever Made, or Why He Was a Fool." At Calvary Evangelical church at 7:15.

Good Manners

Politeness does not mean formality, small talk or affectation. Politeness means the recognition of the temperament and feelings of another human being, the determination to do nothing and to say nothing that can injure that person's self-respect or to give them one moment of unnecessary suffering.

AUXILIARY

Figures Expenses and Counts
Receipts.

The sum total of the amount realized at the House Warming party of the American Legion which was held on last Friday evening has not been definitely stated as yet as all the returns have not been made. Some of the committees have not yet reported. It is thought that about three hundred dollars will be realized after all expenses are paid.

At the regular meeting of the Auxiliary to the American Legion Monday evening, their committees completed their reports but there are still some from the Legion to be heard from. Many very generous donations of money were received from persons who were unable to attend, which the auxiliary members wish the donors to know were very much appreciated and they take this opportunity of thanking both them and all those who contributed to the success of the party by their attendance.

It was decided at this meeting that this affair would be repeated at a later date as it was such a pleasant affair that the committee has been requested to hold another soon. It will not be repeated, however, for at least six months.

Arrangements for the sale of poppies which will occupy the minds of the members of the auxiliary for the next few weeks, were made, it being decided that the poppies would be made by the members themselves this year instead of buying them as they have done in previous years.

The necessary material has been ordered from headquarters, and as soon as it arrives there will be a meeting arranged so that all members may have an opportunity to help in this worthy cause.

The proceeds from this sale is to be used only in relief work. A separate account is kept by all Auxiliaries for this money and under no circumstances can any of this money be expended for any other purpose.

Watch for announcement regarding the sale of these poppies which will be made in this paper at a later date.

ENRICHING THE "THREE R'S"

Time was when the education of youth centered around the "three R's." Not only did teaching revolve around this trio but it confined itself solely to it. That day is past. We have discovered there are some things as vitally necessary to education—the development of character and physique, a stimulation for truth, the promotion of clear thinking and clean living.

Today Reading, Writing and Arithmetic are basic as ever. But it is a more rounding training that develops reasoning and fosters individuality. We have outgrown primitive educational methods.

Likewise our attitude toward living has changed. We build better homes; we have reduced our working hours and increased our social activities. Our playgrounds have supplanted the alleys for our boys and our parks afford the picnic grounds for our citizens. School buildings have become the Community Center for play and social recreation and the headquarters for adult education and training.

We have come from an existing to an evolving life. We are striving to make education a means to wisdom. Today the school house is the measuring rod of progress. Often it is the architectural pride of the community. It is equipped beyond the dreams of a generation ago. Class rooms and subject matter no longer repel pupils. Compulsory attendance laws do not account for the yearly pyramiding of school attendance. The teacher personality, combined with fresh air, sunshine and good cheer are impelling. Physical development is encouraged, the practical in education stressed and the cultural side of life emphasized. Music, art and drama have become an important part of the curriculum. Foundations are laid for better and more abundant living and a finer spirit of human relations.

These influences reach beyond the pupil into the home. More and more we are bringing the school into relationship with the family. The Parent-Teacher Associations have proved the connecting link. They are an evidence of the growth of a common interest in educational work.

Our schools are the mirrors of our national progress. It is one of the blessings of our democracy that we keep these schools pliant, responsive to the country's growth. We are of those who feel that the "three R's" have been taken beyond them. We have added to these the "three C's"—Character, Culture and Citizenship.

The "Enriching of the Three R's" is a story not only of educational progress but likewise community betterment.

Mine Now In Operation With Non-Union Labor.

Margantown, W. Va., April 13. (UP.)—Work is progressing satisfactorily, according to mine operators here, commenting today on the resumption of the Cleveland-Morgantown Coal Co. under a non-union wage scale.

Many of the old miners have returned and mines will be working at full capacity, company officials say.

Van A. Bittner, chief international union representative for this state said no compromise would be considered by the Union where a new wage scale was involved.

Nature as Healer
The biological survey says that a humming bird would in all probability starve to death before the healing of a broken wing by natural process would take place. Cases have been known, however, where broken wings and legs of larger birds have healed.

Lesson for April 18

THE BEGINNING OF SIN

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 3:1-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.—I Cor. 15:22.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Adam and Eve Disobey God.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Result of Disobedience.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Playing With Temptation.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Temptation and the Fall.

A look out upon the world proves that man is not what he should be. It is not reasonable to suppose that man is now what he was when he came from the hands of the Creator, much less an improvement. The only way of accounting for this is by the historic fall of man as given in the Bible. The introduction of sin is the only answer.

1. Man's Probation (vv. 1-5).

1. The place.
It was the beautiful garden of Eden. Man's environment was suited to his nature. The testing of the second Adam was quite in contrast. Instead of in the garden of Eden with a companion suited unto him, it was in the wilderness with the wild beasts.

2. The necessity.

Adam was created with the possibility of character, but not with character. This he could get only through testing. Alternative choice makes character possible. Free will is what made Adam a real man. Character is the resultant of choice.

3. The means.

It was most simple—just one prohibition. The tree of the knowledge of good and evil was forbidden.

4. The method.

Satan, a personal malicious being, appeared in the guise of a serpent. He did not appeal directly to the man. He chose to appeal to the woman through the serpent and through the woman to the man.

a. He found the woman while alone.

b. He insinuated doubt into Eve's mind as to God's Word and love. Satan's method is the same today. He tries to get people to doubt God's Word and then to doubt His love.

c. He appealed to innocent appetite. He argued that there would be no harm in eating, but a great advantage.

d. Eve gazed upon that which God had forbidden and lusted after that which God had prohibited.

II. Man's Fall (vv. 6-8).

The steps in the fall seem to have been rapid. From doubting God's love Eve went to doubting His word. From gazing upon and lusting after that which God had prohibited there was but a short step to indulgence.

III. The Consequence of the Fall (vv. 9-24).

God's holy nature is such that when men sin, He at once manifests Himself on the scene.

1. A disturbed relationship with God (v. 8).

The introduction of sin marred man's familiar intercourse with the Almighty. Adam and Eve not only hid from God's presence, but when summoned by Him they began to make excuse, and Adam even laid the blame on God.

2. The degradation of the serpent henceforth becoming the type of sin and Satan (v. 14; cf. Num. 21:9. John 3:14 and Rev. 12:9).

Satan's doom was pronounced without trial. In the case of the man it was not so, showing that this was not Satan's first offense.

3. The undying enmity between the seed of woman and the seed of the serpent (v. 15).

This bitter enmity has continued from that day to this.

4. The ultimate victory of the woman's seed (v. 15).

Satan harassed the woman's seed, but on the cross the final stroke was made which crushed his head (John 12:31, Heb. 2:14, 1 John 3:8). This is the first gleam of the glorious gospel of Christ.

5. The judgment upon the woman (v. 16).

This relates primarily to her as a wife and mother.

6. Man's new relationship to the earth (vv. 17-19).

The earth was cursed on his account. Man must make an increased effort to exist. With his sinful nature, man would be in a bad state without the necessity of toil.

7. Death (v. 19).

This includes spiritual and physical death. Sin brought all.

8. Expulsion from the garden (v. 24).

Then man's nature was changed, out from the beautiful garden he went.

Being Content

And we shall be made truly wise if we be made content; content, too, not only with what we can understand, but content with what we do not understand—the habit of mind which theologians call, and rightly, faith in God.—Charles Kingsley.

Personal Immortality

Without a belief in personal immortality religion is like an arch resting on one pillar or like a bridge ending in an abyss.

Not Hard to Believe

A wandering Jewish musician met three wolves in a forest in Latvia. In his fright he began playing his hand-organ. At the first selection the wolves, he says, began to howl; at the third they ran away. Being familiar with hand-organs we here testify to our belief in the literal truth of the musician's story.

OLD FIDDLERS ENTERTAIN AT THE MEETING

Of Chamber of Commerce—
Speech of Indian Chief in Book Printed in 1817.

The chamber of commerce at its regular meeting Tuesday evening, following the banquet, was given a most delightful surprise. The South End orchestra, composed of Harry Wilson, William Knode and Frank Rodgers, old-time fiddlers, came in at the invitation of the entertainment committee and rendered a number of selections. The old dance music they played was far superior to the rag time, jazz airs that seem to be the vogue today. When they played "Suwanee river" and "Old Black Joe," the members joined in and sang the songs that were popular "befoh de wah," and the eighteen karat amendment.

"Tug" Wilson, "Dink" Knode and "Folla" Rodgers are real fiddlers, and if ever Henry Ford gets a chance to hear them, he will realize that all three can draw a mean bow and their future will be assured.

President Shaner in looking over his school books, found a copy of the Columbian orator, that he used to study back in 1817. He prevailed on John D. Hummel to read a speech made by an Indian chief, of the Stockbridge tribe, to the Massachusetts congress, in the year 1775, and at the request of a number of members, who desired a copy of same, we reproduce it.

"Brothers: — You remember when you first came over the great waters I was great and you were little, very small. I then took you in for a friend and kept you under my arms, so that no one might injure you. Since that time we have even been true friends; there has never been any quarrel between us. But now our conditions are changed. You are become great and tall. You reach to the clouds. You are seen all around the world. I am become small; very little. I am not so high as your knee. Now you take care of me; and I look to you for protection.

"Brothers! I am sorry to hear of this great quarrel between you and Old England. It appears that blood must soon be shed to end this quarrel. We never till this day understood the foundation of this quarrel between you and the country you came from. Brothers, whenever I see your blood running, you will soon find me about to revenge my brother's blood. Altho I am low and very small, I will grip hold of your enemy's heel, that he cannot run so fast, and so fight, as if he had nothing at his heels.

"Brothers, you know I am not so wise as you are, therefore I ask your advice in what I am going to say.

"I have been thinking before you come to action, to take a run to the westward and feel the mind of my Indian brethren. The six nations, and know how they stand; whether they are on your side, or for your enemies.

"If I find they are against you, I will try to turn their minds. I think they will listen to me; for they have always looked this way for advice, concerning all important news that comes from the rising sun, if they harken to me, you will not be afraid of any danger behind you. However their minds are affected, you shall know by me.

"Now I think I can do you more service in this way then by marching off immediately to Boston and staying there. It may be a great while before blood runs. Now, as I said, you are wiser than I, I leave this for your consideration, whether I come down immediately, or wait till I hear some blood is spilled.

"Brothers! I would not have you think by this, that we are falling back from our engagements. We are ready to do anything for your relief and shall be guided by your counsel.

"Brothers! one thing I ask of you, if you send for me to fight, that you will let me fight in my own Indian way. I am not used to fight English fashion; therefore you must not expect I can train like your men. Only point out to me where your enemies keep, and that is all I want to know."

Men of Great Height

There are many well-authenticated instances of extraordinary height. Take John Frederick of Brunswick was 8 feet 6 inches; one of the Prussian guards was also 8 feet 6 inches. O'Brien, the Irish giant, whose skeleton is in the college of surgeons, London, was 8 feet 4 inches.

Sense of Smell Changes

It is a fact little realized that the sense of smell can be educated to detect odors that the untrained nose would never pick up or suspect. The wine merchants and distillers of perfumes as well as the tobacco dealers very frequently have highly developed senses of smell.
